

HALIFAX COMMON

MASTER PLANNING

The municipality is planning for the future direction of the Halifax Common.

As the city centre continues to grow, this dynamic public space will only take on more significance as a major park and recreation area serving local residents and all people in the Halifax region. The time has come again to take a comprehensive look at the Common through a master planning process.

There are many ways to analyze the future of the Halifax Common, and the process requires attention to each of them. The following factors will contribute to the Master Plan:

The Master Plan is organized into four outcomes:

Policy and planning framework

A document that sets the overarching vision and values for the Common, guides decision making for municipal lands, and provides standards for their management and use.

Parks and Open Spaces Plan

A document and illustrations that set policies, design principles, and objectives for protection, enhancement and connectivity of green space within the Common and its streetscapes, including areas for collaboration with institutions.

Renewal Action Plans

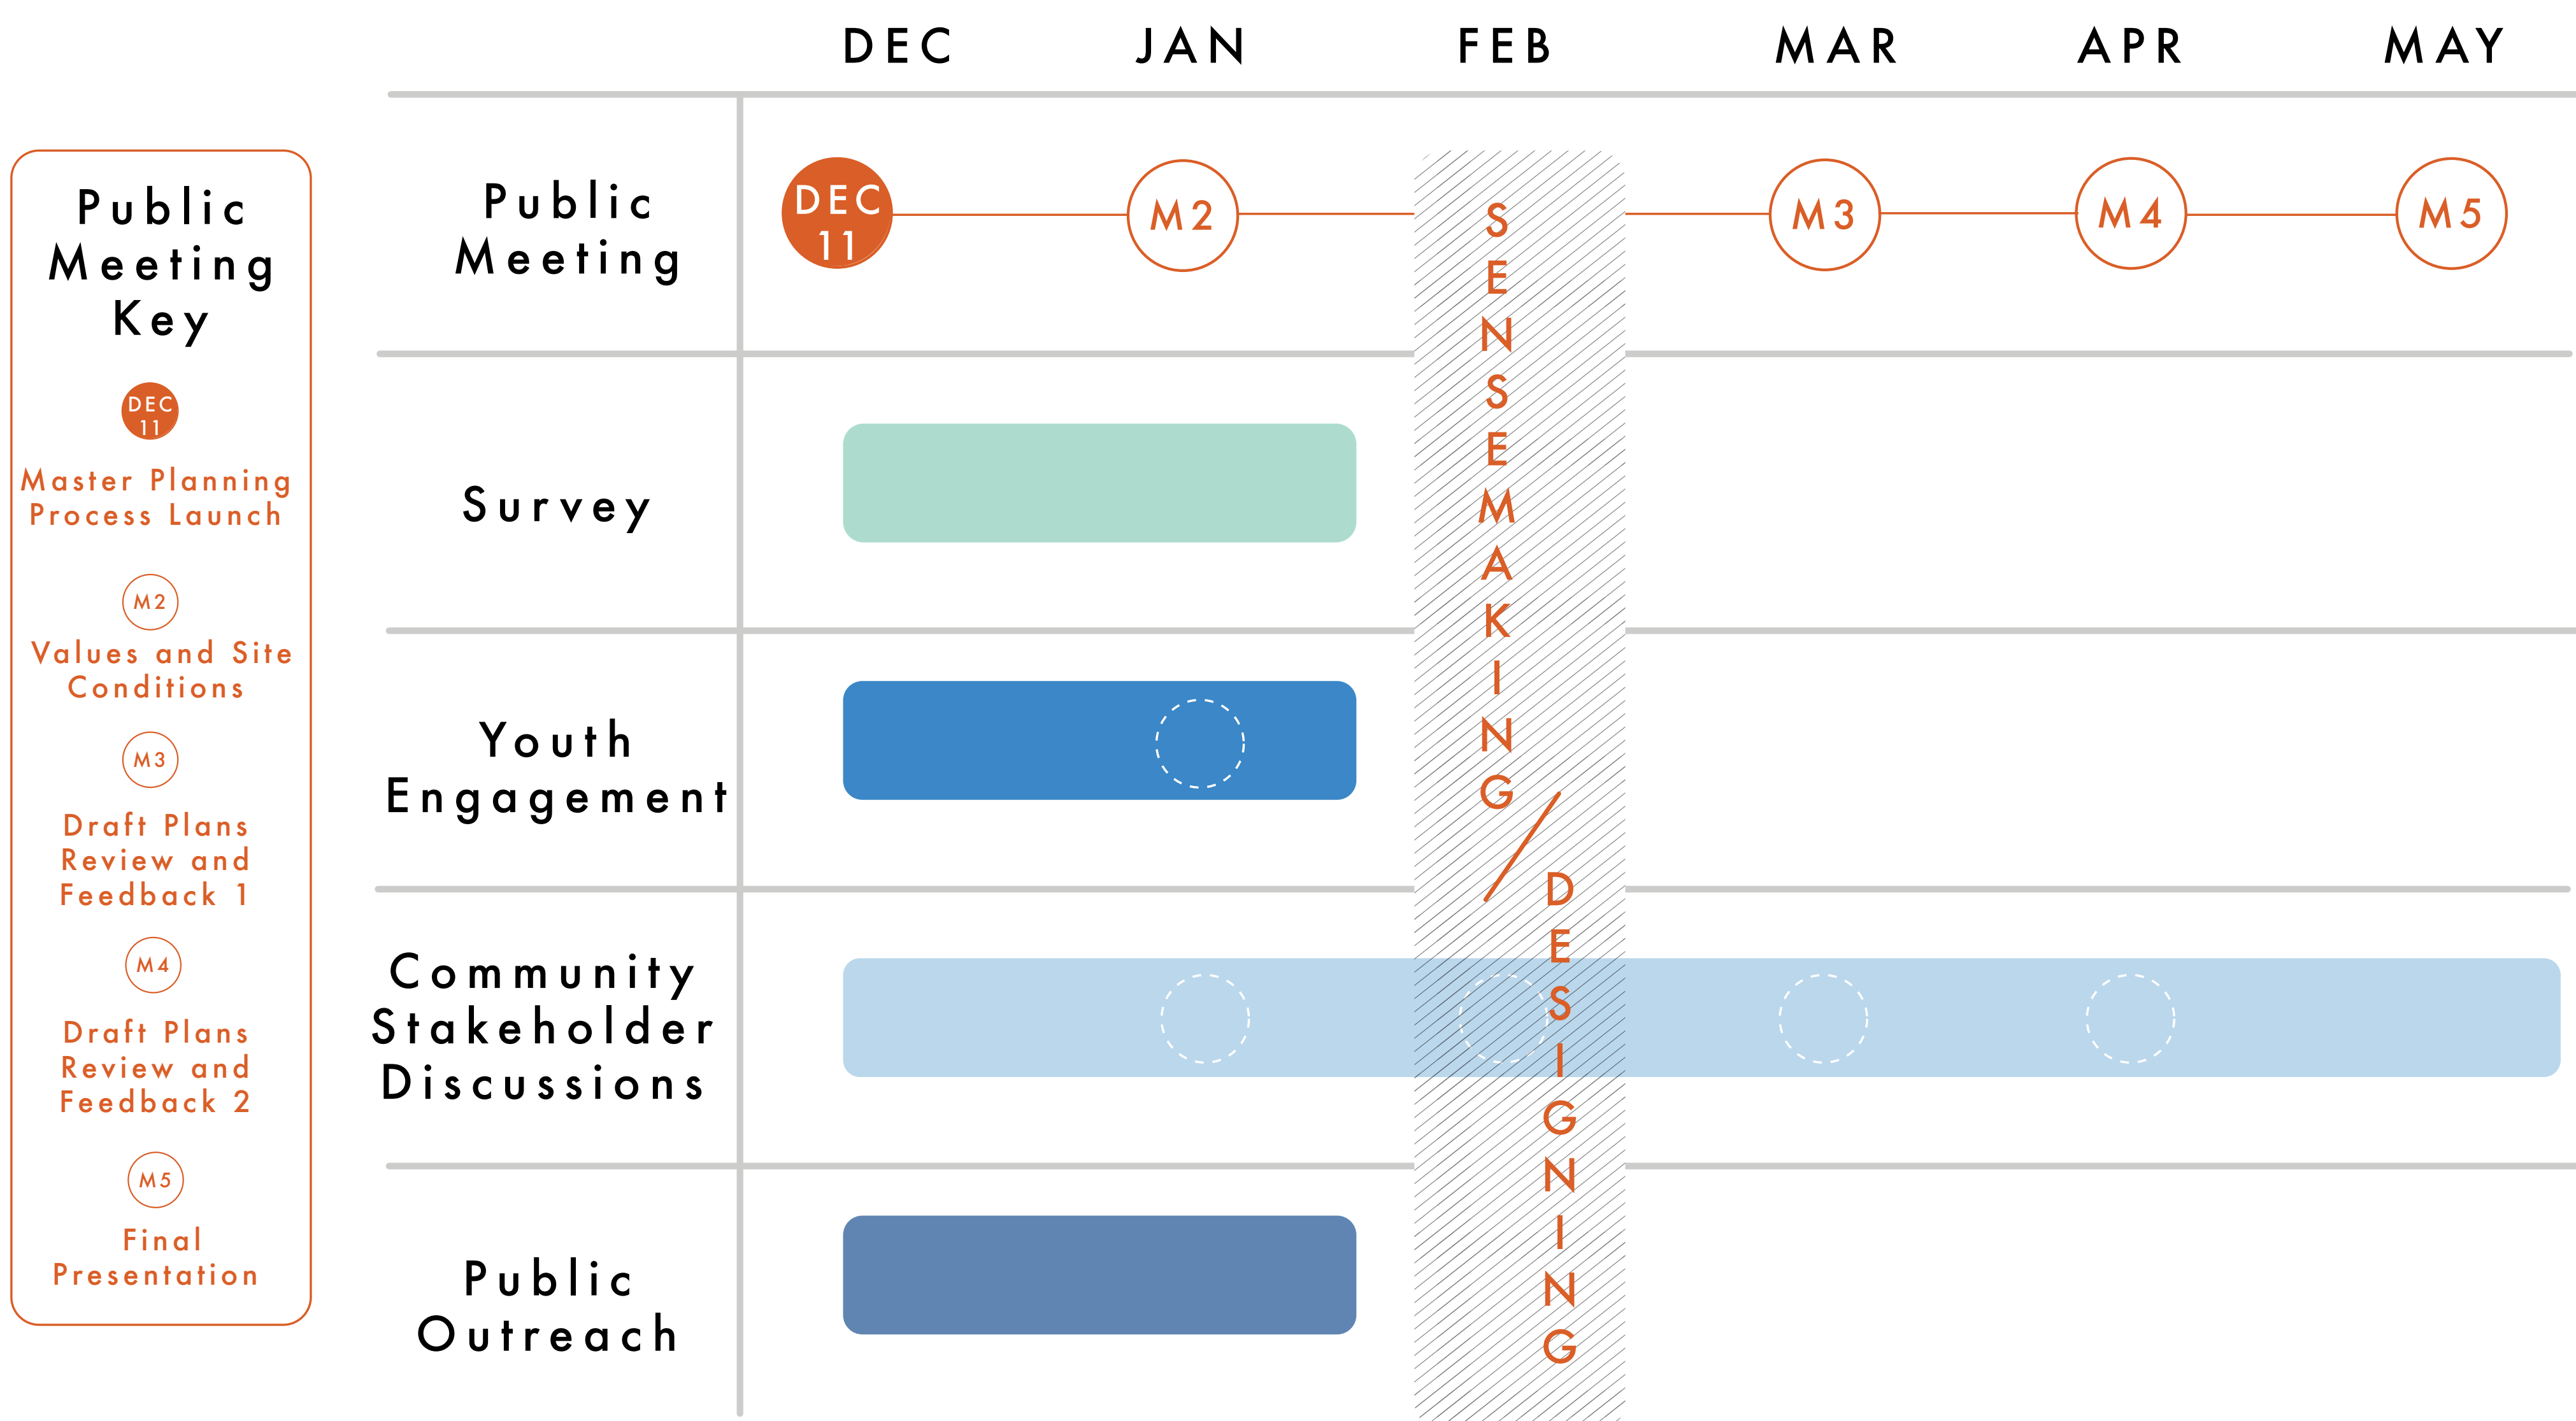

A document, illustrations and preliminary budgets for reinvestment in municipal parks, open spaces and recreation areas, both short and long term, including the North and Central Common, Wanderers Grounds area, Victoria Park, and Camp Hill Cemetery.

Outdoor Aquatic Area Concept Design

Illustrations, descriptions and cost estimates for an outdoor pool, playground and associated building, including their purposes and functions.

Over the next 6 months there will be a range of opportunities for public input to inform the master planning, including: public meetings, conversations on the Common, social media, email, and online surveys. There will also be specific engagements focused on youth, and discussions with community stakeholders.
